Bullseye for Caroline

C&O Warranty Administrator Caroline Baldry has just returned from representing Great Britain in the European Field Archery championships in Terni, Italy. This was the first time that Caroline has represented her country, which is a fantastic achievement for someone who first picked up a bow only 8 years ago. Caroline was one of a team of 18 archers from Great Britain. Members of the team took part in team and individual disciplines as part of the week-long event. Caroline competed in the ladies individual recurve category, achieving a very creditable 13th place.

'It is the ultimate goal for any sportsperson to represent their country, to be competing amongst the best in Europe and alongside Olympic athletes was an incredible experience,' said Caroline. Caroline now has her sights set on competing in the 2014 World Championships.

Field Archery is a challenging sport that takes place in varied locations, for example in woods or on mountain slopes, and requires the archer to adapt to each new situation. Caroline's trip to Italy was made possible in part by sponsorship from both C&O, New Holland, Somerset County Archery Association and Grand Western Archery Society and support from family and friends.

MyNewHolland.com

New Holland have launched a new online community, open to all farmers and everyone with an interest in farming, 'My New Holland' offers all the functionalities of a virtual community, providing a meeting place to share information, experiences and opinions on topics related to farming and machinery.

The feature that will make 'My New Holland' stand out from other online communities is the Special: a guest expert – a recognised authority in their specialty – will be invited to hold a discussion on a topic of their choice that is relevant to the farming industry. All My New Holland members will be invited to contribute their comments, opinions, material or images, driving the conversation forward with the guest expert. Topics will cover a wide range of topics ranging from conservation agriculture to efficient farming practices. Each discussion will be open for a number of weeks; subsequently a white paper will be produced and made available for downloading.

Owners of New Holland equipment can also gain access to extra premium content that will help them get the best from their machines. They can register the machines they own in their profile and download their models' operator manuals and useful material from our training courses.

Visit mynewholland.com to register and join the community.

Ploughing Matches

C&O have been supporting ploughing matches across our region with Blandford YFC and the Isle of Wight ploughing match already having taken place. We're looking forward to supporting matches on the Isle of Purbeck and across Wiltshire over the coming months.
