

C&O Tractors Ltd

Newsletter: July 2014

Welcome to our latest newsletter. This month we're looking at New Holland balers, the Kingston Maurward Agricultural Student of the Year Competition, sponsored by C&O Tractors and New Holland, and recent training at Kuhn's Centre for Progress in Alsace, France.

I hope the season is progressing well for you out in the fields. Please do come and see C&O on our stands at the summer shows. I look forward to meeting you there.

Regards,

Andy

A CLOSER LOOK AT QUICKE IMPLEMENTS...

Quicke manufacture a broad range of implements to help you get the most out of your Quicke loader. The range encompasses implements for bales and silage, buckets, forks and lifting implements. With Quicke you are guaranteed to find the right tool for you.

Designed and manufactured to the rigorously high standards that Quicke insist on for their loaders, Quicke implements are versatile, wear-resistant, productivity boosting and provide optimum vision from the tractor.

To increase their range Quicke has long been able to offer alternative toolcarriers that are suitable for several hook types (Euro, SMS, Farmhand etc.). This increases your options as you can use both new and old implements.

Success for Georgie in NFU Agricultural Student of the Year Competition

The fourth year of the NFU Agricultural Student of the Year Competition at Kingston Maurward College resulted in a win for Georgie Cossins, with runners up Josh Dory and Hilary Hansford.

The award was initiated in 2011 by the NFU in conjunction with C&O Tractors and New Holland, who wanted to support a credible accreditation that would aid young farmers in their future careers.

The sixteen participating students, all studying the second year Level 3 Extended National Diploma in Agriculture, competed against one another in a tense day of tasks. These included livestock, machinery and estate skills tasks, a 50-question theory test, followed by an interview with a panel of judges including the NFU's Rupert Rees and C&O Tractors' Matthew Holland and Dave Stickland.

Georgie, from Blandford Forum, said "It was a complete shock to win! I think the reason was because of the extracurricular things I've done during the course. I'm so pleased; it feels like this award is in recognition of all my hard work."

As well as achieving consistently high grades during her course, incredibly Georgie also found time to compete in the RABDF and Farmplanner competitions, write a regular agricultural column for the Dorset Echo, and still work at the family's mixed farm.

Matthew Holland said; "The judges were impressed with the calibre of all the students in the competition, who are a credit to Kingston Maurward College. Congratulations to Georgie who proved the most deserving winner. On behalf of C&O Tractors I wish her well as she sets off on the first steps of her career in the agricultural world."

Kingston Maurward College Principal, Clare Davison, said: "This is an excellent achievement and the students' commitment and success is a real accomplishment for the College. We'd like to thank C&O and the NFU once again for their involvement and sponsorship of this award – they're very supportive and it's a link we and the students fully appreciate."

Kuhn Centre for Progress

Our sales team are just back from a whirlwind training trip to the Kuhn Centre for Progress in Alsace, France. The brand new centre houses the full range of Kuhn's farm machinery so the team got very comprehensive training on the complete range.

If you want to know more about any of the Kuhn kit, just ask your rep.
